THACKSTON HIGH SCHOOL
Orangeburg, South Carolina

The mem'ries of a countless throng . . . Yes, and such glorious memories they are! From the first excitement of being a freshman and mounting the broad stone steps of O. H. S., to the climactic achievement of graduating and leaving behind these halls of learning, our days of high school have been far too brief.

Our recollections of 1953 will be both gay and somber, happy and sad, accordingly as our moments and moods have been. In this book, however, we present an outline of the year; to each it will bear a different message. It will speak of exploring new studies, meeting new friends, decorating for entertainments, struggling on the gridirons and courts — all of this in the course of a year, during which we gradually assumed a greater semblance of manhood and approximated the stature of good citizens.

Many years hence, when you chance to leaf through the pages of this volume and sight a familiar face, if it sets your mind traveling back along the road of 1953 and bring "mem'ries of a countless throng," then I am sure that no effort in producing this book shall have been in vain.

Dedication

Because of the tedious hours of work, the seemingly insurmountable problems, the weighty decisions which are his; because of the cultural atmosphere which he has created for the students, also the innovations and reforms which he has instituted; because of his faithful years of service during which we have had many pleasant associations with him; the staff gratefully dedicates this 1953 "Warrior" to our beloved and esteemed principal, Edward C. Simpson.

Easy come, easy go, never too fast, never too slow.

The Senior Class

As for us seniors, our memories of 1953 will mark it as the busiest, gayest, most important year of all, as truly a senior year should be.

Last fall it was hard to believe that the fate of the Indians rested on our classmates. But, as the season rolled by, we realized that the team was in the very capable hands of co-captains Jay Ruple and Ronny Camp. At Homecoming, when each boy was sponsored by his mother and a girl, Mary Lou Cotter was crowned queen of the event with Sara Dukes, Elizabeth Bryant and Minnie Alice Miller in her court.

Work on the class play was begun early that year. Under the superb direction of Mrs. Marion Hiers, the seniors presented the farce, "Professor, How Could You!" to a packed house at the Carolina Theater in February. The results were so excellent and public praise so lavish that a repeat performance was necessary the following month. Long will we remember the outcome of Henry's 'shaking Sara," the shock of Brownie's sudden appearance as a ravishing female, the wonderment of Pete's hypnotizing the lamp, and the fascination of Eva's inimitable giggling and flirting.

A series of strictly senior get-togethers was begun, and they certainly proved fun. The object was not to have an organized party, but just for everyone to enjoy himself. Liz, Brownie, Florence and the others certainly were successful!

"Come what, come may . . ." Doesn't that sound familiar? Any self-respecting senior can tell you it comes from "Macbeth," perhaps the most memorable study in English, a class all seniors shared. What a time we had learning those quotations and declaiming them at odd moments!

Everyone was proud to have lovely Grace Dukes chosen "Miss Orangeburg." Both she and the O.H.S. band represented the city in the Azalea Festival. Grace's beauty was recognized at the St. George festival in Aiken, also in 1952.

And how could "The Mikado" ever have been produced without us seniors? Remember Florence as Yum-Yum, Brownie as Nanki-Poo, Henry as Pooh-Bah, Martha as Peep-Bo, and Grace as Pitti-Sing? We always did say we were a talented class.

Then come May and the Junior-Senior. How we longed to know the scene, and how delightful it was! It was then that we came to realize our high school days were drawing to a close and we would soon be "out in the wide, wide world."

With tears of pride and sorrow we graduated, leaving O.H.S. behind, perhaps, in body, but with us always in memories.

"Look where we are!"

"Sign my program, please."

"She gotta get air"

Senior Chapel, when the out-going class presents its prophecy, will, gifts, statistics and history, is an outstanding event in the life of O.H.S. It begins in a humorous vein and ends with the departure of the seniors for the "wide, wide world," as the juniors move up to take the front seats.

Henry J. and his favorite pastime

Summer fun

"Oh, what you said!"

We "Jolly Juniors" have had a wonderful year! It has been said, and we think it is true, that one wakes up to the fun of high school during the Junior year.

Though we began the year minus our president, Eddie Rushton, who had moved to Virginia, we got off to a fine start with Charles Watson in the leading position and Mr. Ackerman as our sponsor.

Everyone knows that the chief social objective of a junior class is to give a bigger, better Junior-Senior banquet than any ever staged before. Therefore, we started early in the year making money to finance ours.

The biggest project of the year was the annual magazine sale. For several weeks we buttonholed anybody and everybody, trying to get subscriptions. When the last reports were in, we were quite proud of ourselves, especially John Mallory and Essie Mae Bochette, who proved to be the high salesmen.

Collecting coat-hangers came next. How we canvased the neighborhoods, asking for coat-hangers in any size, shape or form. As the pile grew bigger, we counted up the pennies.

Remember those history notes—and Mr. Ackerman's tales of life in the army—and those themes in English III? Some of us even waded through "Doc" Moore's chemistry. We were beginning to determine our courses after graduation and could select our classes accordingly.

Then came the last minute preparations, and the many obstacles. Why did crepe paper have to stretch so? And why did the boys wait so long to ask for dates? But after all the worry and work, the carefully laid plans came to fruition. The food, the music, the entertainment—everything—was perfect.

And so we ended our junior year, quite proud of ourselves and eager to be seniors.

Student Council

Here at Orangeburg High School, everyone is a member not only of the Student body, but also of the Student Council, a democratic organization which has the Student Executive Board, directed by Mr. Gene Smith, as its governing body. Through his homeroom representative, club president, or class president, each student has a voice in the Board; and often matters concerning the entire school are voted upon in assembly of the Student Council.

The Council was proud to have Janice Suber elected President of the S.C.A.S.C. at the 1952 convention held in Anderson. Four members, Henry Bair, Martha Rose Camp, Charles Watson and Benny Albea, attended the S.A.S.C. in Miami, Florida.

Allied Youth Post 569, though only in its second year at O.H.S., has made a name for itself in both state and national circles. The purpose of this international organization is "To seek the truth concerning beverage alcohol and the best way of life in relation to this problem" by a balanced program of education and recreation.

At the International Planning Conference held in Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania, Carolyn Corley was elected International Youth Chairman and has represented AY on several occasions. Also making the trip to northern Pennsylvania were Ray Wactor, Carolyn Brunson, Charles Smalldridge and Mrs. Hugo Ackerman.

The post's most important activities for the year was acting as host to the N.C.—S.C. convention in April. The local committees, executive officers and sponsor along with Carolyn Corley, Carolinas' president, had ample opportunity to display Orangeburg's special brand of hospitality and made the 1953 convention the best yet.

Due to the large membership, only the last names of the members can be printed.

MARTHA REED

Working long and hard to produce a topnotch "Warrior" was the 1953 staff under the direction of Mr. Gene Smith and Mrs. Marion Hiers.

This volume is somewhat a pioneer in three respects. It was produced by lithography, a method making possible greater variety of layout and special effects. It is centralized about a theme, the O.H.S. Alma Mater, which runs through it on every division page and is climaxed by the chorus on the final page. The price of the '53 "Warrior" was brought within the reach of every student, so that each home might boast of a copy. For making this a possibility and for many other services, the staff is deeply indebted to the administration.

The practice of including juniors and junior high students on the staff as assistants was continued as a means of furnishing experience to future editors. Needless to mention, they have proved invaluable members of the staff and have contributed substantially to this book.

As for the success of its efforts—the staff leaves you to judge.

LIQUID AIR SHOW ENJOYED BY ALL

Screams and laughs of delight were heard from the OHS auditorium on Tuesday, February 3, when the students were entertained by Mr. John Sloan and his Liquid Air Show.

Mr. Sloan held everyone practically spellbound with his demonstrations, including such things as frying an egg on ice, freezing a flower and blowing the petals over the audience, inhaling the fumes of the liquid air and blowing it out through his nose.

Repeated applause indicated that his show was one of the best ever witnessed by OHS students and that it was throughly enjoyed by all.

FRENCH CLASS PRESENT MARDI GRAS PROGRAM

A minature Mardi Gras was presented by the French class to the student body in assembly on February 19.

But before the colorful Mardi Gras "parade" itself, Liz Bryant, narrator, announced vocal selections by Susan Hundley, who gave American and French renditions of "You're Too Dangerous, Cherie," accompanied by Anne Bleakley, which was followed by "L'Aloutte," a French song about plucking a bird, and sung in that language by Anne Bleakley, with Tally Smith accompanist.

A trio, consisting of Tally Smith, Janice Suber and Margaret Moss Watson, sang "Always" in both English and French.

Liz then gave a short talk on the origin of the Mardi Gras and took the students on an imaginary visit to New Orleans, where the most famous of the Mardi Gras celebrations is held. The audience witnessed a "ball' on the stage, where Sara Dukes, Florence Herlihy and Betty Hughes received call invitations to dance

METTS AND GRAMLING QUEEN OF HEARTS

Betty Neal Metts and Hazel Ann Gramling, along with their Kings, Charles Hutchet and Scooter Sandel, respectively, reigned at the court of the 1953 Queen of Hearts, February 14, at the O. H. S. gym. Maids of Honor were Marie Joye, escorted by Ronnie Templeton, and Lynette Walters with Le Grand Skinner (from Junior High School).

CHORUS AND BAND ENTER FESTIVAL TO COMPETE WITH TEN COUNTIES

The Orangeburg High School Mixed Chorus and Band will travel to Charleston on March 9 and 10 for the annual Southern District Music Festival. Ten lower counties will participate in the contest.

The Mixed Chorus will sing "Angus Dei" and "Czecho-Slovakian DanceSong". The Boy's Glee Club will sing "Wade in de Water" and the Girl's Glee Club numbers are "Consecration" and "Old Shoe-Boots and Leggins". The Girl's Sextet will sing "Frog Capers" and Boy's Quartet number will be "At Parting"

PON PON PLAYERS PRESENT PROGRAM

Skits Prepared by Shirley Pendarvis

The production of "The House of good Literature", a revision of an old playlet of the same name was presented by the Pon Pon Players of OHS with the aid of several outsiders on February 12.

The new revision of the original was written by Shirley Pendarvis, a Tri-P (dramatics) Club member, especially for this production under the guidance of Mrs. Hiers. Taking place in a modern day library, "The House of Good Literature" centers around an imaginary excursion by two American teen-agers through a library visited by different characters representing famous authors or books from various eras.

Leading roles are portrayed by Lyall Wannamaker, American Lass; Hal Himmelbauer, American Lad and Marion Kennedy, the Page. Members of the supporting cast, portray such famous authors and books as Shakespeare, Longfellow, Irving, Poe, Timrod, Modern Realistic Fiction, Wild West Stories and the Bible. Students in the playlet include the following:

Y-Teens

The Y-Teen Club, the girls' teen-age branch of the Young Women's Christian Association, is established to build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of developing and maintaining the high personal and social standards of faith, brotherhood, patriotism and leadership that are demanded of Christians. The Orangeburg Y-Teen Club, organized this year, received acknowledgment as a charter member of the National Association in February 1953. It is working in unison with its sponsor, Miss Helen Sauers, and other interested citizens, and promises to become one of O.H.S.' most active groups.

The Key Club

The Key Club is a service organization composed of the outstanding boys in high school. Their activities, under the sponsorship of the local Kiwanians, have given to the club a place of service, not only in the school, but also in the community. Though they were only organized in the fall of 1952, the boys have shined the athletic trophies, ushered at the chautauqua, and helped with many school and civic projects.

The motto of the Key Club is "We Build;" and that building is toward justice, liberty, democracy, and a better world in which to live.

Harris Marshall, local President, is also District Governor of Key Clubs, and he presided over the convention in Raleigh this past spring.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The aims and purposes of the F.F.A., a national organization, are:

To develop competent, aggressive, rural, agricultural leadership.
To create and nurture a love of country life.
To strengthen the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work.
To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations.
To encourage members to improve the farm home and its surroundings.
To participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of agriculture.
To develop character, train for useful citizenship and foster patriotism.
To participate in cooperative effort.
To encourage and practice thrift.
To encourage improvement in scholarship.
To provide and encourage the development of organized rural recreational activities.

JUNIOR CHAPTER

Composed of freshmen girls studying home economics, the Junior Chapter of the J.H.A. works to develop leadership, to interest girls in home-improvement, to mould personalities, to encourage cooperation, to strengthen self-confidence, to encourage recreational activities, and to bring about closer unity with all other J.H.A. girls.

Delegates from the group attended bi-county, district and state meetings, with everyone going to the state J.H.A.-F.F.A. gathering at the State Fair, always a highlight of the year.

A tea honoring the mothers of the members was given in conjunction with the Senior Chapter during J.H.A. week. At Christmas time the girls gave food to needy families through the local Welfare Department.

In July the cool breezes of the J.H.A. mountain camp near Walhalla will beckon to some of the members. These girls are active all year round!

SENIOR CHAPTER

"Big Sister" to the Junior Chapter, this J.H.A. carries out the same purposes on an interest-level suited to the older high school miss. Last year in its bi-weekly meetings, the girls heard authorities discuss such topics as beauty care for teen-agers and family relationships.

Active in many ways, the girls entered a dress, a yearbook, a scrapbook, a record book, and a home project in the district contest; earned their expenses for a trip to a mountain camp this summer; celebrated National J.H.A. week with a lively assembly program and a Mother-Daughter tea; and attended various district, bi-county and state meetings. Nancy King served as treasurer for District 4 and Bobbie Jean Pooser is pianist for the bi-county organization.

In the spring the Senior J.H.A., the motto of which is "A Live Wire Never Gets Stepped On," honored one of its outstanding members by bestowing upon her the title "Miss J.H.A.."

Future Business Leaders of America

The Orangeburg FBLA, a chapter of the national organization, is a club that seeks to help young people to gain a better understanding of the business world before they enter it. Composed of students taking one or more commercial courses, it strives to develop competent business leaders, to create more interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations, to develop character, citizenship and patriotism, and to improve and establish standards for entrance into the business world.

Twice this year delegates attended the state conventions in Columbia where they gleaned ideas for improving this organization.

Arts and Crafts Club

The Arts and Crafts Club of O.H.S. endeavors to promote and encourage creative and appreciative experiences in the school. The club work not only affords additional opportunities to students with special interests, but also stimulates the functional use of art in helping high school youth to use it in daily living.

MEMBERS—Benny Albea, Patty Bach, Ann Delores Bolen, Sidney Bowman, Betty Boyleston, Laverne Bozard, Henry Cain, Joyce Culler, Virgil Fairey, Wayne Fairey, Zach Farmer, Peggy Garrett, Lynn Haff, Jackie Haigler, Robert Herlihy, Ulric Inabinet, Bobbie Jean Kissam, Bobbie Sue Martin, Michael Mixson, Marshall Rowell, Josephine Stroble and Joe Zeigler.

The Art Club cooperates with other school organizations. Here, the French Class poses in its Mardi Gras regalia, wearing masks and heads made by Art Club members.

Future Teachers Association

Also joining O.H.S.'s variety of clubs this year was the Future Teachers Association, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Lucille McComb. This organization, an affiliate of the NEA, is exploratory, prevocational and pre-professional. Through FTA projects, students learn about the opportunities in teaching, cultivate the character qualities essential for good teachers, study the lives of great teachers, and foster the development of student teaching.

Members of the local club assisted when O.H.S. was host to the county education association. They have also held classes in Mellichamp while teachers attended meetings, and have observed classes in action.

Latin Club

MEMBERS—Elliott Ackerman, Thomas Bryant, Jean Evans, Mary Ann Evans, Jo Ann Fralick, Bobby Herlihy, Marion Kennedy, George Salley, Cynthia Scoville, Ruthie Shuler, Jean Stroman, George Summers, Patsy Williamson.

The Latin Club offers to those having a common interest in the language of the Romans opportunities to vitalize their studies and to provide pleasure and profit. Since Latin is the basis of three-fourths of the words we speak, and since so much of our civilization has its roots in the achievements of the Romans, knowledge of the ancients is priceless.

Each year members of the club attend the Latin Forum held at Winthrop College, under the direction of the Classics Department.

Though it is small, the T. and I. Club is ambitious. By selling lawn ornaments which the members make, the boys are raising money for a camp trip this summer.

The T. and I. Club, a statewide organization, held its annual convention at Camp Okela in the Blue Ridge Mountains in the fall of 1952. It was attended by Dennis Vidrine, O.H.S. sophomore, who participated in the discussions and planning sessions for the year.

MEMBERS—Bob Crout, Jackie Haigler, Aubrey Judy, Johnny Knobeloch, George Summers, Dennis Vidrine, John Wilson and Julian Wise.

Tri-"P" Club

This year the Pon Pon Players, known also as the Tri-"P" Club, have undertaken many activities. Among these were radio presentations, two plays, public speaking at assembly, panel discussions, debating, and exchange programs, as well as representation at the South Carolina Drama Festival and in the Oral Interpretation and Declamation contest of the state.

Membership is composed of the speech class and interested persons having third period study halls, since the club meets during a class period. The colors of the Tri-"P" Club, which is so ably sponsored by Mrs. Marion Hiers, are blue and silver. The standard pin, a handsome silver triangle featuring a blue letter "P," was adopted in 1953.

Operators Club

The prime purpose of the Operators' Club is to enable the students to operate the movie projectors and the filmstrip machines, so that they might assist the teachers when using audio-visual aids.

The club, consisting of qualified instructors who teach the newer members, derives much personal pleasure from this work, also.

Throughout the year the Operators' Club enjoys parties and fellowship together.

Marching Band

One of the most outstanding and talented groups in our school is the O.H.S. Marching Band. This organization has maintained a high level of performances and has enjoyed not only first rating in state contests but also national honors. The lively playing and snappy marching of the band has helped to make many parades and football games more successful. For these and many other services, we say, "Hats off to our Marching Band."

Ben Rush Club

The Ben Rush Club, named for the eminent American physician who was the first to write concerning personality disorders, is dedicated to the study of the principles of mental health and to the development of wholesome personalities. The Ben Rush Club is the only junior mental hygiene society in America, having been organized at O.H.S. in 1952.

The activities of the club include, in addition to a regular monthly meeting, an open meeting to which the parents of the pupils are always invited, The programs are devoted to lectures, plays, recordings and visual aids.

The Committee Exponents are: Program, Shirley Pendarvis; Emotional life, Melton Eargle; Religious life, Bobbie Jean Kissam; Physical life, Will Kelly; and Audio-Visual Aids, Charles Way.

Orangeburg High School is especially proud of four of its members, who have attained district, state and international recognition. Besides being outstanding, all of them being members of the National Honor Society, they participate in every phase of school life and are truly the leaders of tomorrow.

D.E. Club

The Distributive Education Club of America, better known as the D. E. Club, is a vocational training program which operates through state and local school systems to provide specialized education for those persons entering or already employed in retail, wholesale, or service occupations. Led by Chairman LeRue Skinner and Vice Chairman Eva Garvin, the club is an out-growth of the Distributive Education class taught by Mr. Gene Smith.

Boys' Basketball

The Indians of Orangeburg High have developed rapidly during Coach Earl Steckel's third year as head basketball mentor. The basketball performance of the high spirited, hard-working basketball family was of the highest calibre displayed by the Indians for many years. The seventeen regular season wins compared to four losses against many top category opponents confirms the fact that the Indians had their best season in the history of the school, climaxed by becoming finalists in the state Class A tourney.

Girls' Basketball

Determined team play and the feeling of warm friendship was the basic foundation for a very successful season for the Orangeburg High School girls' basketball team. Speed and accuracy as well as a cooperative spirit were shown throughout the regular season. The Indian maidens staged the most successful basketball season in many years winning fourteen games, while losing four. In tournament play the Orangeburg High girls were champions in the Lower State Class "A" tourney.

Praise Shall Ring!"

Autographs

Harold,
I want to tell you that I really have enjoyed your friendship these past few years. It's been wonderful we've had before. That we'll have more fun next year. Now we have just moved to Washington?
Let's take X + X with us. Do you think that would be alright?
Sincerely,
Lawton

"Stengle", I will look forward? to seeing you in my ballpark. Soon I'll beat you. We beat the hell out of one team last week (1-0). I never was worried one little time. Now, getting serious, ole boy, you're a good guy, I'm sure you'll be a good pres.+
+ next year too, I hope.

Johnny
